

NO SUMMER SLOWDOWN

Burnaby Schools were busy places over July and August. Summer Session was a hot choice for students and their families, with record enrolment of more than 8000 registrations. Students could choose core courses, as well as learning a new skill or pursuing an interest. Unity partnership with more than 50

The Burnaby School District wants

Much progress on construction of the new Burnaby North Secondary was made over the summer. The photos from left to right were taken a day apart and show the first walls of the Theatre and Conference Centre going up. Work continues, with the new school expected to be complete in 2023. It will be ready early that year for North’s 1800 students, along with space for childcare, adult education, and a conference centre.

EXPERIENCE IN CLASS INSPIRES STUDENT AUTHOR

While many people have ramped up enjoyment of their streaming services during the pandemic, a Grade 12 student at Cariboo Hill Secondary used the time without his typical activities to publish four books – including one inspired by what he learned about electronics

A JOYFUL RETURN TO SPORTS

There were many smiles on the faces of student athletes across the District as school sports returned to high school -- t o -tot
